An Open Flight Studio (OFS) Residency Program

Residency: August 1 through August 31, 2022

Application Deadline: Friday, June 24, 2022

OFS is excited to announce a CALL to Movement Artists for Flight Deck 2022, a summer residency program awarding up to 40 hours of research/rehearsal time at OFS. Former Flight Deck recipients include Vladimir Kremenović, Elby Brosch, Brittani Karhoff, Alyza DelPan-Monley, Gedney Barclay, Alia Swersky, Danielle Doell, Jessica Jobaris, Alice Gosti, Beth Graczyk, Allie Hankins, Wade Madsen, Amelia Reeber, Zoe Scofield, and Shannon Stewart among others.

OFS is a space for performance-based artists to research, experiment, develop, teach, dialog and perform. OFS strives to maintain a space that is affordable and accessible to enable the goals, pursuits and interests of individual artists, groups and art advocates. For more information about the studio, please visit: www.openflightstudio.org.

Flight Deck information

The resident artist(s) will:

- Have access to the awarded number of hours of studio time at OFS during the residency, August 1 through August 31, 2022. Please note the hours available for the residency include weekend and weekday times. At the time of the award notification, OFS will work with the Artist to schedule studio hours. July dates may be available on a limited basis.
- Participate in an informal showing Saturday, August 27, 2022. Please note you must be available to participate in the performance; it is not an optional activity. The performance will be in person at OFS.
- Adhere to studio policies as outlined in the OFS rental agreement.
- Receive a discounted studio rental rate of $8/hr for additional rehearsal hours needed outside of the awarded hours.
- Contribute in a timely manner any requested promotional materials including bios and photos.
- Participate in social media activity as requested by OFS.

**Please be advised that due to the continuing and unknown nature of the Covid-19 pandemic, OFS reserves the right to cancel or reschedule the residency and the performance at any time. However, OFS recognizes the challenges faced by working artists and will do everything in its power to avoid a complete cancellation of the residency.****

**Awardees will be required to follow all guidelines for studio usage which at this time includes wearing masks at all times inside the building.****

Application Guidelines

- Performance-based artists, movement and dance artists, choreographers and ensembles are encouraged to apply.
- Out-of-town artists are welcome to apply, but please note that no housing, per diem, or other support is included with the space grant.
- Priority will be given to artists working in contemporary and experimental forms of dance or multi-disciplinary work involving dance/movement, including research and/or development of new works and solo research for creative growth.
- The panel will look for artistic quality, innovation, and demonstrated commitment to the craft.
